Acknowledgments

The Zelig project would not have been possible without considerable help from many sources. Our special thanks go to the R core team for providing an excellent modular, open-source platform for the entire statistics and methodological community.

As usual, all errors are our responsibility.